Dear board,

I am truly sorry for my mistake. I wasn't aware that a gas line could be buried that close to the surface. I dug less than 9 inches and to my knowledge they are buried under 12ft and that is why I didnt contact 811. I am now aware that I should contact 811 no matter how deep I am digging. I also thought that since I informed the owner and then they informed the gas company, it was enough since they came out and fixed it right away. I figured the leak wasn't substantial enough and it was taken care of. I know now I should take all the precautions so again I apologize.

Thank you for your time,

Juan M. Ramirez
